CAPT. ARMES SET FREE

Discharged From Custody by Order of Judge Bradley.

GENERAL SCHOFIELD SCORED

Action of the Latter In Ordering the Arrest of Armes Characterized as Unlawful, Tyrannical and Capricious-Appeal Will Be Taken.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 .- Judge Bradley, of the District supreme court, today ordered the discharge from custody of Captain George A. Armes, who was arrested on the order of Lieutenant General Schofield just prior to the latter's retirement from command of the army for having written him an insulting letter. Judge Bradley scored the action of the late general of the army, characterizing it as unlawful, tyrannical and capricious.

In discharging Captain Armes, whose arrest and confinement General Schofield had ordered by virtue of his position as acting secretary of war, Judge Bradley says: "No charge was preferred against Armes at the time of his CAPTAIN GEORGE A. ARMES, RETIRED. The arrest and confinement were unnecessary and oppressive. As the offense charged would, upon substantiation, result only in reprimand, suspension or dismissal, the possession of the body of the accused was not necessary to carry out the charges, as would have been the case if imprisonment or death was to be the sentence."

Speaking of the president's power in army matters, the judge said: "The president of the United States is commander-in-chief of the officers of the army on the retired list. This function of the chief executive, however, is unaccompanied by harrowing career and weighty responsibility. His title of commander-in-chief, so far as it relates to retired officers, is shorn of all power to in particular, and calling upon him to came from Denver in the form of privimpose duties, and appears to be an cease his unholy stab at the only means ate advices. The judge advocate general of the war department has determined to take an appeal from the decision of Judge Bradley. This will carry the matter to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia.

GOOD SHOWING IS MADE.

Work on the Missouri Presents an Unsurpassed Example of Engineering. Washington, Oct. 10. - General Oraighill, chief of engineers, has returned to Washington from a tour of inspection of the river and harbor works in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys. He found the government projects there in a most gratifying state of progress, and the result of his observations doubtless will serve to strengthen the hands of the western people in their application to congress for liberal appropriations to improve their great waterways. The works on the Missouri in particular have been pushed forward with remarkable speed by Colonel Suter, and in General Craighill's estimation present an unsurpassed example of successful engineering. In one stretch of 18 miles in the neighborheod of St. Joseph, as a result of the improvements, 55,000 acres of new land were deposited by the river, thus adding not only to the agricultural resources of that section, but by narrowing the river, greatly improving navigation. In addition to this the works have protected 13,000 acres of farm land from erosion.

NO MONEY FOR MISSIONARIES.

Congregational Society In Unusual Straits Financially. NEW YORK, Oct. 10 .- The Congregatienal Home Missionary society is in nnusual straits financially. It is in debt to the banks $179,000, its treasury is empty and, 'nasmuch as only $100,000 of the indebtedness is secured by collateral, the banks have refused further unsecured loans. The salaries of the home missionaries were due Oct. 1. Failure to receive them, means in many cases borrowing of local banks at high rates of interest. The society is absolutely dependent for the time being upon the gifts of churches and individuals. The present situation is due not only to the hard times, but the chronic omission of the Congregational churches to take the missionary collections in the summer and early fall. The severity of the crisis is but temporary.

The city had a population of 3,000, a cathedral, a government house and a town house, and the place was once the abode of luxury, as evidenced by the handsome dwellings of the wealthy classes. Lapaz was once the seat of extensive pearl fisheries, silver mining was extensively engaged in, and the commerce of the port was not inconsiderable.

CATCHY PHRASES THAT HAVE COME INTO COMMON USE.

Many of the best known and most quoted phrases with which the American people are familiar originate in

With a press gallery thronged with correspondents who are always ready and eager to pick up the novel phrase or the apt description, with the great press associations distributing a Bengal tiger, a whining puppy to a the debates from one end of the country to the other, and with newspapers only too anxious to give currency to the latest expression, a man who says a good thing in congress one afternoon may wake up the next morning and find his saying in everybody's mouth. Many of the congressmen have already had their genius in this direction tested upon the stump and know how to hold their own in the face of all comers. It does not always follow, however, that a statesman who is good in debate will achieve fame by uttering a phrase that becomes popular.

To go back to the beginning of congressional history is to discover many phrases uttered in congress which are still current. It was as far back as 1820, for instance, that Felix Walker, a member of the North Carolina district which | Crockett, the author of "Be sure you're included Buncombe county, apologized | right, then go ahead," was a member of for the emptiness of his remarks by the house of representatives for two stating that he had to make a speech | years, but it does not appear that this which has come down through the years him there. which Daluth has always proudly kept. Blaine and Conkling, with all their greatness, left no single phrase as a legacy of their participation in congressional debates. "Burn these letters" was often quoted after the Mulligan affair, but this sentence was not first uttered in congress. The famous debate between the two men, which estranged their whole lives, occurred in April, 1866, over a very trivial matter-the continuance of the bureau of the provost marshal general. It gave Blaine, however, a chance to satirize Conkling in a There is no reason why, if a good single sentence. An article written by Theodore Tilton had appeared in which Conkling had been likened to Winter Davis. "The resemblance is great," exclaimed Blaine, with pungent satire. 'It is striking! Senator Lamar of Mississippi had resented as a falsehood a charge of broken faith made by Mr. Conkling, and the latter retorted that Lamar was a coward, a blackguard and one," he said, "such as no good man would deserve and no brave man would wear."
